CHICAGO CULTURAL CENTER

78 E. Washington Street, Chicago, IL 60602 (0.4 mi)

This historic landmark hosts hundreds of free programs year round. The building has two unbelievable stained-glass domes, which you can see on your own or on a free building tour. The many halls regularly host free events, from weekly classical music concerts to blues, jazz and more. Also, check out the daily Chicago Cultural Center schedule for free dance performances, film screenings, seminars and theatrical events.

CHICAGO LAKEFRONT TRAIL

5800 N. Sheridan Road - 7100 S. South Shore Drive, Chicago, IL 60649

Hit the Lakefront Trail to run, walk, bike or rollerblade with the blue waters of Lake Michigan to one side and gorgeous green parks to the other. Along the trail are green spaces, beaches and gardens; recreation areas, including playgrounds, soccer fields, volleyball nets and tennis courts; and amenities like washrooms, drinking fountains and concession stands.

CHICAGO RIVERWALK

E. Upper Wacker Drive, Chicago, IL 60611

Eat, drink and play along Chicago's multi-award-winning River walk, a scenic promenade on the water's edge that stretches from downtown Lake Street to Lake Michigan. See a bridge lift from inside the bridge house with a visit to the McCormick Bridgehouse & Chicago River Museum (free on Sundays), and take in the world-famous architecture that lines the Chicago River.

CITY GALLERY AT THE HISTORIC WATER TOWER

806 Michigan Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611 (3.1 mi)

This treasured landmark on The Magnificent Mile has been transformed into a beautiful, intimate gallery for rotating art exhibits of works by local photographers and artists. Constructed between 1867 and 1869, it was created for Chicago's municipal water system and originally housed a 135-foot iron standpipe used to regulate water pressure. It gained special significance as one of the few buildings to survive the destructive path of the Great Chicago Fire of 1871. Both the Water Tower and Pumping Station to the east (home to Looking Glass Theatre Company) were designed by William W. Boyington, one of Chicago's most prolific architects of the mid-19th century.

HAROLD WASHINGTON LIBRARY CENTER

400 S. State Street, Chicago, IL 60605 (1.2 mi)

This is one of the largest public libraries in the world, encompassing close to a million square feet, filling a whole city block, and housing more than 13 million published works. Enjoy all the architectural details while you are there, which include giant owls perched on the roof; the Roman goddess of grain, Ceres, on the facade; and a sun-streamed 9th floor Winter Garden. Also, explore the art collection, which features more than 50 local and internationally known artists displayed throughout the halls and reading rooms.

LINCOLN PARK CONSERVATORY

2391 N. Stockton Drive, Chicago, IL 60614 (3.8 mi)

Located in stunning Lincoln Park, this conservatory displays some of the most stunning flowers and rare plant life. No matter the season, a walk through this storied greenhouse will always feel like a stroll through paradise.

LINCOLN PARK ZOO

2001 N. Clark Street, Chicago, IL 60614 (2.9 mi)

One of only a few free zoos in the country, Lincoln Park Zoo covers more than 35 acres and features more than 230 species of animal. The Farm in the Zoo and Nature Boardwalk bring you up-close-and-personal with the natural world.

MAGGIE DALEY PARK PLAY GARDEN

337 E. Randolph Street, Chicago, IL 60601 (0.7 mi)

Located immediately east of Millennium Park, this play park for kids is an imaginative 20 acres designed in the spirit of Alice in Wonderland and Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. It comes complete with its own mini lighthouse, a life-sized ship, two climbing walls (fee starts at $15), 30-foot Suspension Bridge Towers, a quarter-mile-long skating ribbon, an Enchanted Garden of upside-down trees, and several Picnic Groves.

MILLENNIUM PARK

201 E. Randolph Street, Chicago, IL 60601 (0.6 mi)

One of the state's most popular tourist attractions features larger-than-life public art (don't miss Cloud Gate for a mirrored look at the skyline or splashing in Crown Fountain during warm-weather months); a cutting-edge performance stage (the Frank Gehry-designed Jay Pritzker Pavilion), which is a venue for free concerts and film screenings all summer; and the all-seasons beauty known as Lurie Garden. Make sure you check out the Millennium Park schedule for a listing of upcoming events and tours.

CLOUD GATE (ALSO KNOWN AS "THE BEAN")

You'll recognize this one. It's the iconic, bean-shaped sculpture in Millennium Park that mirrors and distorts the surrounding Chicago skyline. When people see this selfie, they'll know you're in Chicago.

NAVY PIER

600 E. Grand Avenue, Chicago, IL 60611 (1.1 mi)

One of Chicago's most recognizable landmarks boasts gorgeous lakefront views. Over the summer, you will witness free weekly fireworks on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, as well as free outdoor concerts in the Miller Lite Beer Garden.

OAK STREET BEACH

1000 N. Lake Shore Drive, Gold Coast, Chicago, IL (1.5 mi)

Great people watching, a palm tree-covered oasis and close proximity to downtown make Oak Street Beach a sure bet. If you want refreshments, escape to Oak Street Beach Food + Drink.
